Bride Has Moment of Stage Fright

Princess Meg Wed as Million Roar Cheers

LONDON (AP)—Princess Margaret today married the man of her heart—untitled Antony Armstrong-Jones—amid a fanfare of silver trumpets and a million cheers.

The bride had a moment of stagefright in the middle of the ceremony. Within the medieval magnificence of Westminster Abbey, all went smoothly until Margaret began repeating her vows before the throng of 2,068 invited guests and millions listening on radio and watching on television.

When she came to the ancient ritual of pledging herself to Tony, she choked up for a moment.

"For better for worse," intoned the Archbishop of Canterbury.

No reply.

"For better for worse," the archbishop said again.

She then repeated the words quietly, her voice in a lower key than usual. It was part of the pledge by the bride in the Anglican wedding service.

"I, Margaret Rose, take thee Antony Charles Robert, to my wedded husband, to have and to hold from this day forward, for better for worse, for richer for poorer, in sickness and in health, to love, cherish and to obey, till death do us part."

The groom spoke his wedding responses clearly and firmly as he knelt with Margaret before the archbishop, Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, who pronounced them man and wife at exactly 11:45 a.m.

It was the first time in four centuries that the daughter of an English king had married a commoner.

Outside, a million Londoners and tourists roared cheers for the newlyweds. It was a warm, sunny day.

The scene in downtown London was one of festive magnificence—stately, crown-topped poled flying silken banners and flags everywhere.

Inside the 900-year-old abbey the smell of musk, old stone and wood mingled with the fragrance of spring flowers and french perfume. Polished trumpets gleamed. The scarlet and gold vestments of the clergy added color. But most colorful of all was the bride.

A wide diamond tiara blazed on her head. Her gown was of white silk organza—untrimmed, high-necked, long-sleeved and full-skirted. A high chignon added inches to her 5 foot 2. A veil of

Body of Buried Boy Recovered

High School Athlete Killed In Cave-In

TRONTON, Ohio (AP) — Finally getting treacherous sand cleared away after more than 27 hours, rescue workers late Thursday night recovered the body of Luther Warren Payne, 18-year-old high school athlete buried by a well cave-in.

Luther had been helping his family dig the well in the back yard of their home at nearby Burlington. Official estimate of the original well's depth placed it at no more than 30 feet. The youth was buried by some six to eight feet of sand.

A brother, David, working above, ran screaming for help. That was just before 5 p. m. Wednesday.

Volunteers and firemen from nearby Ohio, West Virginia and Kentucky points rushed to the scene and began frantic digging operations.

But there was little hope at the outset of finding the Negro youth, one of eight children, alive.

Only one man could be lowered to work in the narrow well early in the rescue attempt. More sand sometimes slid into the well faster than it could be dug out. The work became slower and more cautious after several workers nearly became buried themselves.

Three times the victim's hand was uncovered only to be covered again by the sand.

The hand digging effort was abandoned and a clam-shell digger brought in. Professionals brought in wood and steel casement

Candidates Filing Election Expenses

Another mountain of paper work is piling up for the County Election Board, as the first candidates file the required sworn statements of their receipts and expenditures in connection with the primary election Tuesday.

All candidates already have received blank forms on which to submit the reports, along with a letter explaining procedure. Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk of the board, said in East Liverpool. The deadline for the reports is June 17 at 4 p.m.

The reports are required of all persons whose names appeared on the ballot Tuesday, as well as from committees that supported or opposed any candidate or issue.

Failure to file a sworn statement before the deadline disqualifies the candidate from running again in any election in the next five years, O'Hanlon pointed out. The stringent provision was added to the state law a few years ago to insure better compliance with the reporting provision.

Meanwhile, the Election Board is continuing work today on the official canvass of primary returns. The job began Thursday morning. O'Hanlon said the work will continue Saturday. There is a possibility the official canvass may be completed tomorrow, he said, although the work may continue until Monday.

4 Are Hurt In Accidents On Area Roads

Traffic accidents in columbiana and Mahoning Counties put four persons in area hospitals in the last 24 hours, State Highway Patrolmen report.

Edward Burke, 25, of 433 Pittsburgh St., Columbiana, suffered cuts of the head and face when his car left Rt. 14 a mile east of it, 7, traveled 318 feet in a ditch, hit a utility pole and rolled over.

Patrolmen of the Lisbon Post said Burke was traveling at a high rate of speed at about 9:40 p.m. Thursday when he lost control of his car. He was brought to Salem City Hospital for treatment. The Patrol charged him with reckless operation.

Two Lake Milton men were injured when the tractor on which they were riding was hit in the rear at 3 a.m. this morning while moving north on Rt. 534 near the Mahoning-Trumbull County Line.

Patrolmen at the Canfield barracks said the tractor was driven by Ray Allman Jr., 26, of RD 1, Lake Milton, who was accompanied by passenger, Kenneth W. Winland, 27, RD 1, Lake Milton. They said the tractor was moving slowly when a car headed in the same direction and driven by Gerald Richards, 52, of Newton Falls ran into it.

Allman suffered bruises of the knee and head and a cut of the cheek; Winland, hip bruise and bump on the head, and Richards, cuts of the lip and forehead. The injured were treated at Trumbull Memorial and Warren General Hospitals.

Allman was charged with driving a slow moving vehicle without flasher lights and Richards with failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

Four Persons Arrested In Stark Probe

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—Four persons were arrested today on charges that they permitted gambling on premises they own in Massillon. A special grand jury had returned secret indictments against them.

This raised to seven the number indicted by the special jury, which has been investigating gambling and rackets in Stark County since January. Two others were indicted last week by the regular grand jury.

Arrested today were Charles Berry, 57, and his wife, Bertha, 43, and Mrs. Irene Peters, 59, all of Massillon, and Julius Frankel, 62, of Canton.

The Berrys own the building which houses the Hub Cigar Store in downtown Massillon. The couple live in an apartment over the store.

Mrs. Peters owns a building containing another cigar store. She is the mother of Nick and Gus Peters, who were indicted by the regular grand jury last week on charges of conducting a numbers operation.

Frankel was indicted in connection with a building he owns in Massillon.

All four were released under $500 bond each.

Earlier indictments by the special jury named Michael Miljanich and Joseph Berbari, both of Massillon, as offering bribes and Massillon Patrolman Robert Dennison as accepting a bribe.

Two Leetonia Youths Receive Penalties

Two 17-year-old Leetonia youths were fined and sentenced Thursday by Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin at Lisbon after a hearing in which they were charged with ordering students in Leetonia High School to pay them money for protection.

Silver Beaver Awards, highest honors accorded in scouting, were presented to two county men on Thursday night at Beaver Local High School at the annual awards dinner of the Columbiana Council, Boy Scouts of America.

Presented the awards were Del W. Bailey of Columbiana and Eugene W. Hall of East Liverpool.

Civil Rights Measure Signed by Eisenhower

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower signed today the 1960 civil rights bill keyed to new protection for the voting rights of Negroes.

Eisenhower called the law "an historic step forward in the field of civil rights" although Congress failed to include some of his recommendations.

"With continuing help from all responsible persons, the new law will play an important role in the days ahead in attaining our goal of equality under law in all areas of our country for all Americans," Eisenhower said.

The signing was without any extraordinary ceremony.

Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers and Deputy Attn. Gen. Lawrence Walsh came to the White House for it, but there were no other prominent persons invited.

Eisenhower used two pens in signing the bill, giving one to Rogers and the other to Walsh.

The President's statement noted that this is only the second civil rights measure passed by Congress in 85 years. He said it, like the 1957 law, was built on recommendations of the administration.

Congress passed the legislation April 21 after months of struggle, marked by one week of around-the-clock Senate sessions.

Stubbornly resisting Southerners battled the bill by every possible means. While they were unable to defeat the legislation, they squeezed out of it a number of features sought by the Eisenhower administration or by Northern Democrats—notably broad authority for the attorney general to seek injunctions in civil rights cases and a permanent commission to fight race discrimination in employment on federal contracts.

Although primarily a voting rights measure, the new law also strengthens federal authority to deal with bombings and persons who organize violent demonstrations against court orders such as those desegregating public schools.

The heart of the measure is a new procedure to help Negroes, or other minorities fight discrimination against them at the ballot box. Teaming in this effort will be the U. S. Department of Justice, federal courts and officers of the courts called referees.

The bill provides for the attorney general to file suit, asking courts to find whether there is a pattern of discrimination against the exercise of voting rights.

After such a finding, court-appointed referees could hear complaints from persons discriminated against. If the referee found such persons qualified under state law, he could order that they be permitted to register and vote.

The new voting procedure may be tested in this fall's election, although the law is expected to be challenged in court, delaying a showdown.

Firestone Scion Plunges To Death

HAVANA (AP) — Harvey S. Firestone III, crippled scion of the wealthy rubber family, crawled to the balcony of his 20th floor hotel suite Thursday night and plunged to his death.

Cuban authorities ruled him a suicide. He left no note in his room.

The 30-year-old Firestone, a resident of St. Petersburg, Fla., suffered from cerebral palsy and was confined to a wheelchair. He checked into the Havana Hilton at 1:40 p.m. Thursday with his attendant and a cousin, David M. Firestone, 29, of Sarasota, Fla. They planned to stay three days.

About 7 p.m. Harvey disappeared and his two companions called police.

Clad only in white shorts and a pajama top, his body was found on a third floor parapet above the main entrance of the 25-story turquoise and white skyscraper in the heart of the Cuban capital's fashionable Vedado District.

Police gave this account:

Firestone had been lying on a couch while his attendant, William J. Didas of St. Petersburg, Fla., was taking a shower. His cousin, David, was taking a nap in an adjoining room.

Harvey, who had powerful arms and shoulders, apparently crawled to the balcony of the room, pulled himself up on top of a chair and plunged over the 3½-foot-high aluminum grill barrier around the balcony. Death was instantaneous.

Police said David Firestone told them his cousin two months ago in Florida had tried to jump from a speeding car.

The dead man was the grandson of the founder of the Firestone Tire and Rubber Co. and the only son of Harvey S. Firestone Jr., now head of the firm.

The father is in Paris to lay the cornerstone for a new tire plant.

The son, although crippled from birth and unable to write, was a brilliant student. He graduated magna cum laude from the University of Miami, Fla., and finished third in his class at Stetson University law school in 1959, only two places behind his tutor, Everett E. Cushman of Gulfport, Fla. He and Cushman had been making plans to enter law practice together.

Firestone is survived by his wife, the former Beverly Lou McFarlan of Brecksville, Ohio, whom he married in 1956, and a 19-

Estimated 200 Hurt as Storms Rip Oklahoma

Rescue Efforts Are Hampered by Torrential Rains

WILBURTON, Okla. (AP)—Ugly black tornadoes killed 25 persons and injured an estimated 200 in slashing attacks on eastern Oklahoma Thursday night.

Torrential rains followed the twisters and hampered rescue efforts. Most of the affected areas were without power and communications.

Eleven victims were counted in this college town and officials feared they would find more bodies under the rubble today. The best estimate of injured, taken to hospitals in several towns, was about 75.

Five Dead, 16 Hurt

The reported toll in the other tornadoes was five dead and 16 injured in the Moffett-Roland area next to the Arkansas border near Fort Smith, three killed and six hurt near Keota, two killed and possibly 7 hurt at Sapulpa, two deaths in rural areas near Sallisaw and Checotah, two dead and 12 injured near Bristow, and 13 hurt in the Hoffman community near Henryetta.

The worst storm hit Wilburton, a town of 2,000 with another 1,000 students at Eastern A&M Junior College.

Downtown Section Wrecked

Two blocks of the downtown area were wrecked and the rest of the business section was heavily damaged. The City Hall was blown away.

The twister, which struck shortly after 6:30 p. m., bored a path up the east side residential area. Homes in an area five blocks by three blocks were almost all leveled said Sgt. Henry Mooneyham of the McAlester Police Department. Another 15 blocks of homes were heavily damaged.

The college escaped serious damage. Biggest town hit by the twisters was Sapulpa, an industrial city of 15,000 just southwest of Tulsa.

Twister Kills 7, Injures 20 In Arkansas

MORRILTON, Ark. (AP)—A tornado today smashed the small community of Menifee, near Morrilton, killing one woman and injuring at least 20 other persons.

Sheriff Marlin Hawkins said the twister destroyed a dozen houses, two churches and the post office in Menifee.

Hawkins directed rescue efforts of police and Civil Defense workers. He said the tornado left just about everything in splinters. Menifee is a town of 150.

The sheriff said most of the injured were hospitalized at Morrilton. He identified the dead woman as Ora Oliver, 70, a Negress.

Hawkins said the twister struck about 1 a.m.

Senate Prepares To Send Depressed Areas Bill to Ike

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate prepared today to send to President Eisenhower today a politically potent $51 million dollars depressed areas bill he asked Congress on Tuesday not to pass.

The House-passed figure is far below the $389 million dollars originally voted by the Senate in March last year but is still nearly five times the $3 million asked by Eisenhower.

Sponsors of the Senate bill disliked both the money cuts and a House provision requiring separate action, after Appropriations Committee consideration, to make the money available. The Senate bill would have permitted use of Treasury money without direct appropriations.

But they apparently feared that further insistence on their own terms would delay or prevent passage. Any effort at compromise with the House bill would require action by the House Rules Committee, which had held up House action on the bill until it was passed.

Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) made the motion Thursday that the Senate accept the House changes.

The measure would provide federal loans and grants to help areas of chronic long-term unemployment such as coal towns in Pennsylvania and West Virginia. Low-income rural sections would get aid, too.

The funds would be used to attract and set up new industries in distressed communities, and to retrain workers for them.

The House bill would make available 75 million dollars each for plant loans in industrial and rural areas, 50 million for public facility loans to furnish such things as a water supply needed to win an industry, $5 million for public facility grants to communities unable to handle loans, and 16 million for retraining and technical aid payments.

Linda Cummings Wins Reading Event At Goshen Church

Completing a two-month effort during March and April of missionary reading, East Goshen Friends Church teen-agers read a total of 104,153 pages of missionary books as another phase of the five-month merit program ended.

Top reader was 14-year-old Linda Cummings, RD 4, Salem, who chalked up an amazing 20,275 pages to her credit.

Of the 24 teen-agers who reported reading, there was an average of some 4,300 pages per participant.

Each of the teens who read the required minimum of 5,000 pages will be awarded a week-end excursion to Columbus May 13-15. Included in this tour will be a personal meeting with Governor DiSalle.

Others who read 5,000 or more pages were: Nancy Lora, 10,077; Linda Weingart, 9,473; Rhonda Brown, 8,451; Betty Brickner, 7,631; Delores Brickner, 6,702; Eileen Burke, 5,472; Wilma Smith, 5,395; Jane Myton, 5,154; Ruth Nelson, 5,050 and Jane Bruderly, 5,034.

Church Librarian Gladys Byham said that in addition to the many books in the library, this reading program added 53 new missionary books at a cost to the church of almost $100.

The merit program closes May 31 and Mexico trip winners as well as all other swill be announced on June 5 during the morning worship service.

Rainfall In April Was Below Average

Rainfall during April measured 1.04 inches or 2.04 inches below the normal marking the first time since March, 1958, that rainfall did not meet the average in Columbiana County.

Edwin Copeland, official weather observer for the county, indicated, however, that the lack of rainfall is not serious because the rainfalls of the last two years have made the water table high.

The average temperature in April was 51.6 degrees or 4.1 degrees higher than the norm. High for the month was 85 on the 24th and 25th. Low was a 21 on the 6th.

There were 12 cloudy days, eight partly cloudy and 10 clear days.

Three inches of snow was recorded, Mr. Copeland said.

245 Stray Dogs Picked Up In County In April

County Dog Warden Russell Reichenbach reported today that he and his assistant picked up 245 stray dogs in April and that only two were redeemed. Ten had to be destroyed, he said.

He said all dogs over three months of age must have a license or the owners will be fined for harboring a dog without a license. The dog warden's office sold 15,681 licenses this year compared with 16,700 in 1959.

Dogs killed seven sheep and an undetermined number of chickens last month, he said. His office reported several cases of dog bites to the local health departments.

Other officers installed were Mrs. Raymond Moore, vice president; Mrs. Paul Ellis, secretary, and Miss Carol Hiscoc, treasurer. Mrs. William Spangler was the installing officer.

Mrs. Naomi Mattix led the devotions. A film, "Footsteps of Livingston," was shown.

Plans were made for the mother-daughter banquet to be held May 16. It was announced that the workshop of the organization will be held at the Christian Church in Massillon.

Lunch was served in the dining room by Mrs. Margaret Moore and Mrs. Lawrence Snow. Spring flowers decorated the tables.

Mrs. Mildred Downs of Boardman has been ill for several days at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Carlisle of W. Chestnut St. She is reported improved.

In and About Our Schools

Science Demonstrations Held

Wendell S. Smith, National Science Foundation traveling science teacher from Michigan State University, has been presenting special lecture-demonstrations this week in science and math classes at Salem Senior High School.

As a traveling science teacher, Smith's mission is to stimulate student interest in science and scientific careers. He brought with him a station wagon filled with demonstration equipment, much of which he and other traveling teachers built themselves during summer training at M.S.U.

Designed to present scientific principles in a graphic, meaningful manner, the homemade apparatus can be inexpensively duplicated by students and their teachers, Smith believes.

Smith, who spent week-long visits at 27 other high schools before coming to Salem, says that he has observed here "probably a little more than average" interest in science on the part of the Salem students. He observed that a "slightly higher percentage of students here are studying physics and chemistry than in other schools."

Smith, physics and chemistry teacher at Minerva High School, holds a bachelor of science degree from West Virginia Wesleyan College and the master of science degree from Ohio University.

The Committee Juggles the Lineup

It's always news in the United States when the top echelon of the Communist party in the Soviet Union is changed. But unlike former times when each new juggling of the lineup seemed an effort to conceal weakness, the juggling now seems to improve efficiency. The newest change, which puts Krol R. Kozlov, the personally deputy premier who visited this country last summer, into the top position of the Communist party and switches the responsibilities of another half dozen key Communists, is clearly no confession of weakness.

This is the way a monolithic state adjusts itself to change — by decisions at the top of the monolith. It is the authoritarian equivalent of elections in countries where the people instead of the politicians decide who shall hold office. It is the Soviet Union's concession to the necessity of organizational change.

One characteristic cannot be looked at too closely by Americans trying to understand the difference between their concept of government and the Communist concept. All change in Russia is in the form of edict from the Communist party, which is, in fact, the Russian government.

There are no contrary opinions, no issues, no contests. A handful of people whose success at political survival has marked them for high political destiny make and break all individual ambitions for high office. All party decisions are irrevocable. A man can be assassinated, buried alive in an outpost, cast into civil nothingness, or be elevated to the premiership by a process that makes the traditional "smoke-filled room" of U.S. politics look like a New England town meeting.

This committee dictatorship is challenging popular government. Currently it appears to be working well. But before Stalin's death in 1953, no one believed it could work at all; after his death it looked as shaky as the skeptics feared it would look, until Nikita Khrushchev asserted enough personal strength to fill the vacuum of authority.

Now it's Khrushchev's own ultimate departure from power that raises the question of succession. The heir-apparent seems to be Kozlov, but he too will have to prove he knows how to survive in a system that has no fixed rules, only the behavior patterns of the ruthless men at its core.

The Only Way That Makes Sense

A low-pressure notice that Vice President Nixon will take President Eisenhower's place if the summit conference in Paris lasts longer than a week has two points of interest.

First is the point that Mr. Nixon has been given another boost in political prestige by being designated in an official way as the stand-in for President Eisenhower in 1960's top gathering of international leadership. But it has quit being electrifying news that the President thinks his vice president is the second highest official of the government — almost co-equal to the President, himself, in responsibility and authority.

Americans have grown accustomed to the new concept of a vice president as the sharer of the presidential burden. Even though no one seems to be willing to think of a vice presidential nomination, the fact is that any future President who tried to cut back the newly towering prestige of the office would run head-on into hostile public opinion.

The American people have grown accustomed to the sense of security that grows out of knowledge that their vice president is on the job and fully capable of taking over when needed. They do not want to go back to the spirit of previous administrations when vice presidents were flunkies and hacks.

The other point of interest is the way the announcement served notice on other participants in the May conference that Mr. Eisenhower has no intention of staying in Paris longer than a week. This amounted to saying that if the conference hasn't jelled in a week it will be up to Vice President Nixon to take it from there.

This could have the effect of giving the other participants a sense of urgency, or it could have the effect of giving Mr. Nixon a chance to take credit for breaking up what might appear to be a log jam. It might even have the effect of making the other participants wait for Mr. Nixon, on the assumption he is likely to be the next President and the man they will be dealing with after Mr. Eisenhower.

Either way — any way — Richard M. Nixon will have a chance to come out of the summit conference this month with increased stature at a time when his potential rivals for the presidency are busily whittling one another down to size.

Shimmer In the Web

May goes too fast.

Lilacs are here before tulips are gone, and roses and peonies will crowd in before the last daffodils have faded.

Lawns and meadows that lay inert for months last winter now change appearance day by day and hour by hour. Fruit trees bloom overnight. Bare landscapes are decorated between dawn and dark by festoons of new leaves.

It is time to open the windows for summer before the snow shovel has been stored away. The skeleton of last Christmas's tree lies in a patch of bright dandelions, and wild morning glories twine in the pickets of a snow fence no one has had time to take down.

May should slow down. Apple trees should stay in bloom for three weeks. A hawthorn should cling to its glory long enough to be viewed with pleasure over two weekends. There should be no hurry about grape hyacinth and honeysuckle. There was no hurry about snow in February, or about gray days in November. They were their welcome time with perseverance.

"Let all thy joys be as the month of May," sang Francis Quarles in the 17th century. But such joys would be short-lived. The month of May is here today and gone before tomorrow is half over. It is a pleasure to be tasted as the bee tastes the nectar of May blossoms — briefly — a flavor rather than a substance — a fleeting shimmer in the web of the seasons.

Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Ike's decision to use Nixon as a "stand-in" for him in summit session indicates the belief it will have the character of a wild and wooly "Western" in which, in his role of a global Marshall Wyatt Earp, he may need a "double" in rough spots.

Russia, following usual techniques, will see to it that there are many moments in which the President may think he is going over the cliff on horseback.

Is one Nixon enough? Things can get so violent that Ike could use a corral full of hardy cowhands to leap in and take over.

The President says Dick will be used only in case he has to return to Washington to handle vital issues on the home grounds. He realizes how the Soviets cling to the routine of stretching out the drama while the orchestra plays. "It may be for years and it may be forever."

He makes it clear he is not going to the summit as window dressing for a Khrushchev version of "Round and Round the Mulberry Bush." He expects moments when he can say, "Include me OUT" after which "Daring Dick" Nixon will dash from the dressing room to take over.

It's tough on Nixon. He MUST stay at the summit and struggle nobly to keep awake while doodling. Perhaps setup is more like baseball than "Western."

Ike knows the value of relief pitching in critical moments, and sees need of a strong bullpen in the Paris game.

Nixon has been a top man in the bullpen for eight years. He is a rightlander with a change of pace and both a fast ball and curve. Following his appearances in South America and Moscow he is reported to have developed a knuckler and fadeaway.

Khrushchev's strategy will be to keep Ike on the mound. He will also want to exhaust Dick's patience by keeping him in the bullpen, even when Ike shakes his head wearily and seems to be indicating his delivery isn't working. Nixon may be the man for the job. But why not take along Ryne Duren and Whitey Ford just in case?

THE WITNESS who testified before the House payola committee that, as a record maker, he paid platter jockey "merely for advice and not to plug tunes" didn't sound like George Washington.

Government agents are rounding up bookies all over the U.S. in a big drive. They don't seem to be "horsing around." But syndicate hoods have their lawyers, politicians, etc., and the handicap sheet could read:

Uncle Sam: Always trying and reported in top form.

Bookie: Tough, seasoned and has winning record over distance.

Mouthpiece: Always ready at a price.

Politico: Seldom fails when called on.

Debbie Berson, Barnard soph, speaking on ban on "shorts" in classroom says, "You can be just as big a slob in a skirt as in Bermuda shorts." Yes, but it takes more time.

Name of new Korean head is Huh. It seems strangely appropriate in view of questionable situation.

Great American Problem

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

The great American problem now is adjustment of the people to a new morality. This will include not only condonation of killing, but the elimination from the moral code of contrition and restitution.

This course is plain in the experience of the McClellan Committee's inquiry into union crimes. We will put away the tremulous version of Christian decency which was our professed motive up to this time. The Constitution will be put aside, gently and with hypocritical respect, and ultimately discarded with scorn as being outmoded.

EARL WARREN, in his opinion on integration, inferentially endorsed this farewell to the Constitution by his "general" resort to the writings of Gunnar Myrdal, who frankly laid it down that the Constitution was no longer fit for its purpose.

If Warren can "generally" endorse Myrdal's general condemnation of the Constitution today, he probably will declare himself more brutally in a short while. But, even though his language become more openly contemptuous, he can hardly say farewell to the Constitution with more finality than he has said farewell already.

The Catholic Church is not united against a social order which definitely is new and wrong. Non-Catholics should view this irresolution with no less apprehension than Catholics. The church has professed devotion to the personality and dignity of the individual human being. Now some of its members support George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, Jack Kennedy and, politically, Jimmy Hoffa, who treat the personal man as an impersonal object. The church has advocates on both sides of questions inherent in this substitution of a new morality for the vanishing standard.

The late Pope Pius XII, in his Christmas message of 1952, inveighed against compulsory induction of masses of workers into their Christian souls.

THERE IS NO EXCUSE for argument about the Pope's meaning. But some American prelates took only time to catch their breath; then renewed a fierce, worldly political struggle for a forbidden end. A Jesuit scholar wrote me, "I am aware of Pius XII's reference to the unfortunate labor conditions in the 'free world,' in his Christmas message of 1952. The clerical liberals have tried to dodge it but it stands there to rebuke them." Analyze that language and you will find only a milder, that is, a priestly, statement of the same charge that I made in the lines just preceding.

The Kennedy family are eminent laymen of the church. Jack enjoys the approval, though not the open political endorsement, of eminent prelates. Joe, his father, a multimillionaire, is covered with titular honors. Yet, Jack goes campaigning with his arm around the shoulder of Walter Reuther, thus defiantly endorsing Reuther's wicked record of attacks on government by which alone he rose to power.

This new order plainly will be a massive combination of two great material powers, management and unions. They are joining forces and, with contempt for man, will regulate his life and control him largely by a system of unauthorized private laws of their own devising for their own ends.

IF REUTHER is acceptable as a rule of this order, then riot, bloodshed, killing, terror by night in collusion with pro-soviet agents, all are legitimate weapons of the new morality. And, though Jimmy Hoffa is a whipping-boy now, his activities, power and genius are such that he plainly is eligible for a full share. He is Reuther to the nth power.

All this comes from Middle Europe. It is not American but it is a convenient substitute for the old way. It is a gift from Jay Lovestone, who absolutely rejected the Constitution and demanded blood in the streets long before David Dubinsky hired him to run "labor's" independent state department with a system of union embassies abroad.

Great Truths

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Human Friendship Knows No Color Line

The day of a Washington correspondent is not always the same. It requires no event of national or international significance to teach a lesson. For, as Thomas Gray wrote in his famous elegy, truth often is to be found "far from the madding crowd's noble strife."

It took the greater part of the day to get there and back—to a little church in the hills of Virginia where were gathered the family and friends of Jim Taylor, a Negro who died last Friday at the age of 74.

Until retirement two years ago, he had worked for 15 years on the farm where this writer lives in Virginia. To the outside world this fine man may be like millions of others—a good Christian whose kindness of nature and simple ways earned for him the respect and esteem of all who knew him.

As the eulogies were spoken by the two Baptist preachers, who took turns explaining to the anguished wife and children what the passing meant, there came to mind a contrast.

Only the day before, a man was put to death in a gas chamber in California. Around the world the editorials denounced America and our system of justice. British newspapers particularly complained with a scathing bitterness that America had been inhumane.

There came to mind, too, the "inhumane penalty" paid over the past 12 years by the 17-year-old girl sexually assaulted by Caryl Chessman. She still is in a mental institution and may spend the rest of her life there.

THE SIMPLE WORDS of the preachers in the Virginia church expressed nobly the facts of life and death as they concerned a good man, a useful man, a conscientious and honest worker. But the Jim Taylors never make the headlines.

One preacher told what it meant to be a Christian. He said he was riding in his car the other day when he noticed someone beckoning on the side of the road.

He stopped and found an auto in need of a tow. Though headed in another direction, he helped out, and a half-hour later, on his way back to his original destination, a tire on his own car went flat. He also sought help on the lonely highway and someone came to his aid. This, he pointed out, was God's way of recompense to those who perform good deeds in his name.

What impressed this writer was the naturalness and sincerity of the service. Messages of sympathy from friends were read aloud. Spiritual hymns were sung.

Readings from the scriptures were explained with interpolations that everyone could understand. It was more than an hour of intimate and informal contact between the pulpit and the mourners—something this writer had never before witnessed.

THERE WERE perhaps 40 persons in the little church. I asked a southern senator on Capitol Hill whether in the South attendance by white persons at such services was frequent. He said it often happened and that there was a deeper feeling of friendship for individual Negroes than might be generally supposed from reading the emotional outbursts in the North in recent months about the segregation controversy.

What really is this friendly feeling for the Negro? As one reads the intemperate comments about "racism," there comes the disheartening feeling that many things are said in anger that are regrettable. For the true southerner does care about the Negro.

Talking with many people from the South, one finds that they have throughout their lives felt closer to individual Negroes than is generally believed.

It is true that this is sometimes scorned as a "master-and-servant" relationship. But the deep-seated feeling, the willingness to help when sickness and trouble come, the benevolence that reaches out long after the worker has gone to another city or to another task—this could hardly be predicated alone on a "master-and-servant" concept.

THE OTHER DAY, when news came of Jim Taylor's death, a white lady in the neighborhood, who had known him for years, burst into tears. I watched her cry. She had been born and raised in the South.

Human friendship knows no color line. Those who are striving to see reason rather than emotion applied to the maintenance of social customs and individual rights and ways of living have never allowed their feeling for persons of a different race to be marred by the exhibitionists who want to repeal the normal laws of association and thus unwittingly bring about more instead of less friction.

The epitaph of Jim Taylor in this country churchyard, as Gray wrote, May, "implore the passing tribute of a sigh," and could be inscribed in these words:

"Here rests his head upon the lap of earth

"A man to fortune and to fame unknown;

"Fair science frown'd not on his humble birth,

"And friendship mark'd him for her own.

"He gave to mis'ry all he had, a tear,

"He gained from heav'n ('twas all he wish'd) a friend."

Warns of Parking Lot Debt

What happened to our Mayor's Committee, or is it necessary to make a survey before indebting the City to the amount of $90,000 for an off-street parking lot?

To me this is of more importance than all the surveys and reports made when Council was ready to pass an Income Tax Ordinance which would have greatly benefited the city with additional revenue. At that time the mayor made a statement in The News that if Council passed this ordinance he would veto it, and that he would appoint a committee to make a complete survey as to the city's need for additional revenue. The final report came back, "No immediate emergency."

Approximately two months later the city is in great financial trouble and the mayor is going all-out to create a debt of $90,000 for one parking lot.

The $90,000 is only the principal. Over the period of years the interest on this debt, providing the bonds to be sold a year from now, can be sold at the rate of 3 1/2 per cent (which is too low a rate at the present time). This would be over $28,000, thus costing the city $118,000 and still ONE parking lot. Is this an emergency?

The main object of this project is to promote business. I could be wrong, but I think this is getting the cart before the horse. What we need first is industry so that our unemployed can afford to drive their cars and pay for parking them.

In the past years our General Fund revenue from our present parking meters was approximately $24,000 per year. For the first four months of 1960 our meter revenue is $113,256 less than in the first four months of last year.

To me this is proof that such a debt and expenditure involving the city is absolutely ridiculous and the taxpayers will be paying the bill.

Changing the rate of the street parking meters is also under way. The present one and five-cent meters will be changed to five and ten cents. This will affect motorists who may have an errand that would take only a couple of minutes. It will mean five cents to park the car.

This increase in the downtown rate will not increase the revenue from these meters. The motorists will find other ways of doing these errands.

In other words, either park in the off-street lot or pay a higher rate on the street. Regardless, the city will be the loser as far as revenue goes.

Another thing, the properties involved in this program are being bought at prices much higher than real estate values in our city at the present time. But why not? The city is in the market to buy and the property owners in this location are willing to sell.

This program should be of interest to all citizens of Salem, after all, we are the ones who are going in debt.

WOOSTER, Ohio (AP)—Kenneth Watts' arraignment on indictments charging first-degree murder and shooting with intent to kill was continued in Common Pleas Court Wednesday after his attorney argued that the 20-year-old defendant's rights had been violated. No new date was set.

Judge Adrian Miller gave the prosecution until next Wednesday to file briefs answering the claim of attorney F. Emerson Logee that Watts should have been given a preliminary hearing on the charges before they were taken to the grand jury.

Watts is charged with slaying Mr. and Mrs. William Fender at their farm home near Doylestown and wounding Mrs. Marilyn Wagner of Rittman, where Watts also lived.

Mrs. Wagner was wounded on the night of April 15. The Fenders were slain the following night in their home. Police say Watts killed the Fenders to get their automobile.

Watts surrendered to state patrolmen April 20 in southern Ohio, not far from his former home at Wayne, W. Va.

cialist was excellent but I'm sure you've never had acne. Ann Landers, or you would have carried it one step further. More important than anything else, is to develop the right attitude so that acne doesn't murder a teen-ager's confidence and make him a recluse.

To all teen-agers with acne I would like to say this: Follow your doctor's order, BUT assume the acne is going to be with you for a long time. Then make up your mind to fight back.

Don't hide. Be a leader if it kills you. Work like a Trojan to get good grades, participate in sports, dramatics, debate and music. Be as fine a person as you know how. The old-fashioned virtues, loyalty, honesty, a no-gossip program and a lively sense of humor are still the best friend-getters known to man.

I'm certain now that my acne served a very useful purpose. I knew I couldn't depend on my looks to get me places, so I had to develop personality, build character and demonstrate leadership qualities if I wanted to amount to anything.

So, please, Ann, tell the teens who are suffering from this miserable skin curse to put it to work for them. When they stop thinking of themselves as "horrible sights" — so will everyone else. —EX-NAVAL OFFICER.

Dear Ex: Many thanks for those words of wisdom. I hope the thousands of kids who are acne victims will clip this column and look at it from time to time when they need encouragement.

Party or Candidate?

Dear Ann: My husband and I frequently disagree about politics. He argues that I would vote for a chimpanzee if he ran on the Democratic ticket. He brags that he votes for the man and not the party.

I've heard others make this same statement with an air of superiority. I know there's something wrong with their reasoning but I can't put it into words. Can you? —TONGUE TIED.

Dear Tied: What your husband is trying to say is that we must support the candidates who represent the party of our choice if we are to preserve the party. And this is fine — up to a point. However, the voter who refuses to follow his party's candidate when that candidate does not come up to his standards is a healthy influence on BOTH parties.

Such an independent spirit effectively can register disapproval of his own party's candidate without abandoning his — or his party's — principles.

Doggone Dog

Dear Ann: Our neighbor has a German shepherd which is the meanest animal I've ever seen. He has bitten two children in the neighborhood and nipped my small son twice. The mailman is afraid to deliver the mail to the house.

Whenever we complain to the owners they say, "Prince is very gentle. The children must have teased him."

At night the dog howls and barks. During the day he runs all over my tulips and iris. What can I do about this beast? —S.S.S.

Dear S.S.S.: In most cities it's against the law for dogs to be running loose. Call the police department and find out if the dog should be on a leash. If they are breaking the law, tell them and give them a chance to abide by the regulations. If they ignore the law after that, report them.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Inside Labor By Victor Riesel

HOLLYWOOD — Movieland's first Tarzan was a barrel chested tree-slinger named Elmo Lincoln. I ran into him several years before he died and told him how all the kids on my slum block loved him in the old silent.

But it would be nice if many of the old silent stars were eating regularly and living comfortably.

"You'll see," he predicted, "sound won't make any difference to the aging movie player."

It hasn't. That's why the lesser known movie players breathed a little easier when the picture producers agreed to throw $2,625,000 into a welfare and pension fund.

Thus the movie industry became part of the big parade. The producers joined other American employers who are paying the monumental sum of four billion dollars a year into similar funds all over the land.

SOME 19 MILLION workers and their families now are covered by reserve funds totaling more than 40 billion dollars.

These are startling figures and they come from a startlingly good source.

When the Screen Actors Guild wanted expert advice on their funds, they turned to the most expert and respected of them all, Martin Segal of New York.

His saga is the story of the phenomenon which some day will see a quarter of a trillion dollars in such pools of protective cash, according to a U.S. Chamber of Commerce expert.

Segal's firm directs more than 800 such funds covering four million workers and their families in the paper and publishing, construction, milk, transportation, TV and radio, motion picture, airline and machine tool industries, among many others.

We bumped into each other out here and I asked him for something definitive on the uproar over aiding the aged — an issue which apparently will affect the presidential election.

"Of course, here are political implications in this group of older citizens," Segal analyzed. "Keep in mind that while only half of the total population has the right to vote, almost 100 per cent of our seniors are eligible to cast ballots. In the last presidential elections only about 60 million persons voted. Less than five million votes could have changed the course of the '56 election. You can see what effect a 16 million elderly vote bloc can have."

SEGAL POINTED OUT that the aging will have even greater influence in 15 years. At that time, there will be 21,600,000 people age 65 and over. That will be about one out of every 10 Americans.

Segal further estimates that the nation owes this bloc of people considerably more than just a charitable gesture. First, they are estimated to spend an average of $1,000 a year on household goods. This is a good sized market.

"It is true that 80 per cent of them have money incomes below $2,000 a year," Segal revealed. "And only 5 per cent have money incomes of over $5,000 annually. But the total is enormous.

"This is a rich market constantly growing richer. No industry from basic chemical to amusement can afford to alienate it or pass it by."

Segal and I talked of the actors and I kept thinking of the first Tarzan. Then Segal made the point over which we both were musing:

"Of course, the attitude of retired workers towards political issues is important. But simple humanity requires that thoughtful attention be given to the problems of older workers, their housing, their health and recreations. God being good, there go you and I."

THE PERFECT FABRIC FOR GETTING A GAL from spring into summer is lightweight corduroy. American designers make imaginative use of corduroy in clothes for everything from sports to evening wear. This dashing white trench coat (left) by Bill Atkinson is cut from wide wale corduroy and lined in checked gingham just for fun. The designer has not tampered with the classic trench coat design. Call it what you like (center), the hostess costume or at-home costume, it's pretty. Here, the wide white skirt is done in pinwale by Designer Hannah Troy and belted in black patent. It's paired with simple tank top. For spring out-of-doors, corduroy separates are ideal. But they should be carefully planned. This girl (right) wears smoothly tailored slacks, tie-print cotton shirt and matching print-lined jacket in pale beige pinwale. Her husband's beige corduroy car coat is cut with new dropped shoulder line.

Multiple Sclerosis Campaigners Wage War On Affliction

Sixteen from Salem attended a meeting for 1960 Hope Chest Campaign workers for the benefit of multiple sclerosis victims Wednesday night at Foster Memorial Presbyterian Church in Youngstown.

"Joining of hands of doctors and laymen in a program of research and education will conquer multiple sclerosis just as it has polio," Robert A. Burcaw, national field director of the 1960 campaign told the workers and guests numbering more than 100.

The campaign sponsored by Tru-Ma-Col Chapter of MS, will work to raise $25,000 in Mahoning, Trumbull and Columbiana Counties when the drive opens Sunday. It runs through June 19.

Pointing out that more than half a million people in the United States suffer from MS or other closely allied nerve diseases, Burcaw said the first job is to uncover cause of the crippling disorder. The national group currently supports 44 scientific research projects toward this goal.

He said only five things are now known about the disease: It strikes young adults between the ages of 20 and 40; it is a disease of the central nervous system; it is very difficult to diagnose; those who have the disease suffer permanent impairment of some kind, and the only treatment is medical management.

Ted Conner, WFMJ radio and TV personality, who heads the fund appeal, announced that canisters will be placed throughout the three-county area and that a concerted house to house campaign will be held Friday and Saturday, June 3 and 4.

He told the group of 100 campaign workers that 60 per cent of the amount raised will stay in the local chapter for work with patients served by the chapter.

Attending from Salem were Miss Jane Royle and Mrs. Glen Hoobler of the Gold Star Auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign Wars; Dorsey Brink and Francis Himmelsbach of the VFW; Mrs. Helen Myers, YWCA; Mrs. Robert Culler, Presbyterian Church; Mrs. Frank Kautzman Jr., Beta Sigma Phi sorority; Robert Bower, Mrs. O. F. Sanor and Mrs. Darrell Fadely, all of Tru-Ma-Col Chapter and Carolyn Snyder, Judy Stark, Rosemary Clotti, Sally Carp, Diane Karp and Sandra Dixon, all of the Y-Teens.

Mayor Dean Cramer has signed a proclamation for the campaign, and Beta Psi Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi sorority, is holding a "Sweetheart Dance" Saturday night at the Salem Golf Club, with proceeds to be contributed to the Columbiana County Multiple Sclerosis Equipment Fund.

The Doctor Says

By HAROLD THOMAS HYMAN, M.D.

Toss Out Useless Mental Rubbish

No one ever seems to have a good word for memory. When we were kids and forget where we've left our rubbers and mittens, we are told we'd probably lose our head if it weren't attached to our neck.

When we grow a bit older and forget we were supposed to wait and bring our little sister home after rehearsal from the school play, we're told we must have a brain like a sieve.

When we marry and return home, after a hard day, without the umbrella we started off with in the morning, we're told we don't seem to have the brains we were born with.

And, as we grow older, we complain that our memory is failing since we forget the children's birthdays, the date of our wedding anniversary, and who it was that gave us that knitted sweater last Christmas.

THE PUZZLING PART of all these memory defects is our ability to recite the nursery rhymes we learned in childhood, the choruses (if not the verses) of the popular songs we sang when we went hiking and the batting order of the local team we rooted for long before softball was invented.

What makes all these complaints so unfair is the praise we bestow on machines like UNIVAC that predict results a few hours after the polls close after they've had a feeding of early returns to compare with the early returns of a previous election.

Now UNIVAC is a massive machine. You need a whole building to house it and its gadgets and spare parts. Each one must cost millions to make and oodles to maintain and service. And it takes a crew of trained technicians to operate it and keep it in order.

AGAINST THIS, the comparatively tiny grey-and-white machine you keep between your ears weighs less than 3 pounds, runs by itself, costs nothing to operate, holds a file of more items than you could count in a month of Sundays, and usually comes up with the information you're after in 2 or 3 seconds flat.

Recently, as a matter of fact, we had an example of what can happen when the human memory operates too well.

This occurred when a man, whose gift of total recall helped him win a large sum of money on a quiz program, then failed to qualify as a census taker because, among other things, he was vague about the directions east and west, north and south.

THIS INCIDENT has given me the courage to advance a pet theory.

I propose that individuals (and nations) unite in a drive to cultivate the "forgetful." We clear attics and files of useless and inflammable rubbish. Why not treat our grey-and-white matter with equal consideration?

When we're finished, we may not remember the names of the generals who commanded the rival forces in the Hundred Years War — or maybe not even why the wars were fought — but we'd have plenty of storage room for fresh ideas!

House Okays Farm Measure

$4 Billion Bill Short Of Ike's Request

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Appropriations Committee decreed the plight of the farmer and rapped administration farm policies today as it approved a $3,964,781,500 money bill for the Agriculture Department.

This is $170,481,690 less than President Eisenhower had requested for the fiscal year starting July 1 for the department's regular and special activities.

Asserting that "the most serious problem" facing agriculture today is continued overproduction of crops already in surplus supply, the committee called for a new approach to production control.

It noted that the government, through the Commodity Credit Corp., already owns nine billion dollars worth of surplus commodities. These surplus stocks, it said, should be offered to farmers in consideration for cutting back production.

The results of such a program, the committee said, would be a saving in storage costs, a reduction in price support payments in line with production eliminated, and a saving to farmers through reduction in costs of production for which there is no market.

An alternative approach suggested would be to continue price supports on total production limited to domestic and foreign market needs.

The committee recommended that the department be given authority to encourage growers of wheat, corn and feed grains to cut production up to 25 per cent in any one year in exchange for an equal quantity of surpluses held by the government.

Once adjustment of production has been accomplished, the committee said, a commission should be appointed to prepare for submission to Congress a farm plan based on protecting farm income and keeping production in line with market needs.

Despite the heaviest federal spending in history on agricultural programs, the committee said, farm income in 1959 was at the lowest level since before World War II. If the present farm policies are continued, it said, the situation will worsen.

3 Lifeguards At Guilford Are Needed

Three lifeguards are needed for the 800-foot swimming area at Guilford Lake, according to Raymond Votaw, state park manager at Guilford.

Applicants are asked to contact him at the boat house of the 396-acre lake.

Several good rains are needed to bring the lake up to normal level. It is now down about two feet.

Toilets and cloths changing buildings have been constructed and workers are now painting picnic tables and hauling dirt and seeding planter strips in the parking lot at the lake.

Persons expecting to install new docks at the lake must get state specifications from Votaw before construction.

Bot licenses are now in Salem and many are sportsmen are getting their licenses, Votaw said.

Matter of Fact

It's not too difficult to see how some people have confused genius and madness. Some of the world's greatest geniuses have been among the most peculiar. The poet Schiller used to plunge his feet into ice to stimulate his mental power. The philosopher Descartes buried his head in a sofa so he could concentrate better. Shelley wrote poetry while on "the hearth-rug with his head close to the fire."

One of the cleverest smugglers in the world was actually a famous and respected man. He was Sir Henry Wickham, and his smuggling performed a great service to his native England. Until 1876, Brazil had a monopoly on the rubber trade. Wickham managed to smuggle 70,000 rubber tree seeds out of Brazil. Every rubber tree outside Brazil is descended from these seeds.

Mrs. Betty Whalin, outgoing president, was presented a bar for her pin.

Twenty-five persons, representing eight units, attended.

An executive meeting will be held later this month, the time and place to be announced later.

Meg

white illusion tulle sprang from each side of her head above the ears, pulled back at the shoulders and falling to the floor.

Only Hitch in Wedding

When the bride choked up, it was the only hitch in a wedding of truly fairytale splendor. It was like the turning of a page of history.

Shortly before the princess rode in a glass coach to Westminster Abbey today she spoke to the Queen Mother of hers and Tony's love, saying:

"Never have two people been so much in love."

And the light of love was in her eyes as she took her measured steps along the long blue carpet spread down the central vastness of the abbey.

Prince Philip, her brother-in-law, was beside her.

Cherry-cheeked, she was the picture of a beautiful bride.

Her sparkling white dress—its veil spread out behind her like light spray in the sunshine—set off her beauty.

Waiting For Princess

Armstrong-Jones with his best man, Dr. Roger Gilliat, was waiting for his princess. He sat on the ground floor level of the abbey, actually laughing and even joking until the moment Margaret arrived.

Then he became serious but as Margaret reached him he flashed her a winning smile.

She smiled back.

Stepping to her side, Tony walked with her, up the short flight of steps to the pink-cushioned kneeling benches.

Margaret's back was now to the star-studded audience, including her sister, Queen Elizabeth II.

Dressed in his golden and white mitre and cope, the archbishop asked Tony:

"Antony Charles Robert, will thou have this woman to thy wedded wife, to live together after God's ordinance in the holy estate of matrimony?"

In the great abbey, the Archbishop's usually deep, booming voice was almost lost.

"Wilt thou love her, comfort her, honor, and keep her, in sickness and in health, and forsaking all other, keep thee only unto her, so long as ye both shall live?"

Tony's "I will" came on top of the archbishop's last word.

Words Almost Unheard

Although microphones dangled above the high altar, her first words went almost unheard. Her voice was stronger, however, when she and Tony clasped right hands.

Just after this she blew her line and hesitated.

As they knelt before the archbishop, a slight tremble seemed to shake her veil.

As a princess marrying a commoner, she might have been excused if she stammered in vowing to "obey him and serve him."

But she negotiated that beautifully.

Tony's voice was warm as he repeated:

"With this ring I thee wed..."

Margaret flashed him a quick smile.

"To those whom God hath joined together," said the archbishop, "let no man put asunder."

His words, the trumpet fanfares and the words of the Christian ritual all were heard by the crowd of a million outside.

As the newlyweds emerged from the abbey, the throngs broke into roaring cheers which brought smiles to the faces of the 29-year-old bride and her 30-year-old husband. So jammed were the crowds that ambulance squads reported 257 casualties, including 171 fainting cases.

In the glass coach, which the groom entered first after a whispered consultation with the bride, they returned to Buckingham Palace for a champagne wedding breakfast and to prepare for departure on their Caribbean honeymoon aboard the yacht Britannia.

Some of the crowd broke through police lines and surged against the high iron railings in front of the palace. From thousands of throats came the cry, "We want Margaret."

When the couple came out on a balcony, another volley of cheers rose from the square below.

She was carrying her bridal bouquet. She turned to speak to her husband, then with a brilliant smile waved to the crowd.

Francis cheers followed. Handkerchiefs and programs waved. Queen Elizabeth, Queen Mother

Hawkins Wins Third Straight, Struck By Batted Ball

Orioles Are 11-6 Victims

Senators Defeated 5-3 by White Sox

By The Associated Press
It was three years ago Saturday that a line drive ended Herb Score's effectiveness as a pitcher, and almost cost him his sight. Now the Cleveland Indians, denied at least one American League pennant with the loss of Score, await a medical report on a second youngster hit by a line drive while on the mound.

Wynn Hawkins, 24, a right-handed rookie, won his third in a row, 11-6 at Baltimore Thursday night, but had to give way in the seventh inning when a ball hit by Jim Gentile struck his pitching shoulder. The ball hit Hawkins with such force it bounded high into the air to the outfield.

Hawkins didn't appear seriously injured, but was taken to a hospital for precautionary observation. Only one other game was scheduled in the AL and the Chicago White Sox won it, 5-3 at Washington, for a virtual tie with the New York Yankees.

In the National League, Pittsburgh takes a two-game lead in a three-game series with the second place Giants tonight after beating the Chicago Cubs 9-7. Cincinnati won its fourth in a row by beating the Giants 4-3. Los Angeles defeated Milwaukee 4-3 in 10 innings and Philadelphia stopped St. Louis 3-1.

Hawkins had the Orioles blanked until the sixth, when Gentile's fourth home run started a two-run inning. The Orioles then put together a four-run seventh when Bob Grim relieved Hawkins, who gave up eight hits, walked four and struck out five.

Milt Pappas (1-2), first of six Baltimore pitchers, was the loser. Roy Sievers, the slugger the White Sox got from Washington in a three-player swap, made his first home run of the year good for a pair of first-inning runs against his old mates. Earl Battey, one of the players the Sox bundled together with $150,000 for Sievers, had three of the Senators' eight hits and drove in four runs, one with his fourth homer.

The White Sox nailed it with two runs in the seventh off Russ Kemmerer (0-2), scoring on a sacrifice fly by Nellie Fox and a single by Minnie Minoso. Bob Shaw (2-1) won it, with Turk Lown's relief, for his seventh in a row against Washington.

Recheck Shows Relay Team Didn't Establish Record

Athletic director Fred Cooper reports that a recheck of Salem High School track records reveals that this year's mile relay team has not set new school record as was previously reported.

Dale Middeker, a member of the 1954 track squad, has turned up a clipping from the Salem News which lists a time of 3:37.2 for the mile relay team of that year.

The 1954 team, composed of Middeker, John Chester, Jerry Martin and Herb Haschen, turned in the time while finishing third at the District Meet here.

This year's mile relay team is still almost five seconds shy of that mark. The team of Tom Floyd, Dan Krichbaum, George Goodball and Gordy Scullion was clocked at 3:41.9 this week in a meet against Ravenna.

Another Salem News account in 1954 shows that Bob Sebo's best time in the 180-yard low hurdles that year was 21.9 instead of the 20.0 which is carried as the current record.

The athletic director said he will check further into this record. If the 21.9 clocking of Sebo is confirmed, then the 180-yard low hurdles record belongs to Ed Yates who ran the event in 21.4 this week against Ravenna.

In that meet, Yates suffered a sprained ankle while participating in the broad jump, and Coach Karl Zellers reports that the star hurdler will probably be unable to compete in the Mentor Relays on Saturday.

Pastrano Aims for Revenge Tonight

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Willie Pastrano, who claims he has picked up speed afoot to go with a nice jab and fast hands, aims for revenge tonight in a nationally televised (NBC) 10-round fight with Alonzo Johnson.

Johnson, an aggressive puncher, nipped Pastrano in a unanimous decision but since has fallen from among the top heavyweight contenders.

Pastrano now is a light heavyweight and figures to come in around 177 pounds. The 24-year-old New Orleans fighter has a 52-6-5 record.

Johnson, 25, from Braddock, Pa., is 18-4. He is expected to weigh in around 185 pounds.

The fight is slated at 9 (EST).

No. 11 --- Chip Shot

By JIMMY DEMAET

Chip shots are hit from the fringe areas of the greens. There the finest players make one quarter of their pars and birdies. This happens when they miss the green in regulation figures, but then chip up and take but a single putt. Chipping is as important as stroking long putts close to the hole. The whole practical theory of chipping relates it to putting as closely as possible.

Always select the club with the least amount of loft capable of clearing any intermediate contouring and running the ball close to the hole. Do nothing to help lift the ball. Trust the built-in loft of the club and the correctness of the swing.

The swing doesn't vary in terms of swing technique basics. You satisfy different shot demands by selecting different clubs. This makes the swing a controlled factor. It places the burden of change on your ability to select the right club.

Learn to chip well with all the clubs. Don't establish a favorite chipping club and force yourself to develop many different clipping swings.

As with putting, an even, unhurried tempo is a prime requisite of chipping.

Commit the fundamentals of the chip shot to muscular and rhythmic memory.

Thomas Clears Jump Bar at 7-1/4

Has Leaped 7 Feet Or Higher 18 Times

BOSTON (AP)—Six years ago an English medical student unlocked the secret to track and field records when he broke the four-minute mile barrier.

John Curtis Thomas, 19-year-old son of a Cambridge, Mass., bus diver, today is a leader in the grand assault started by Dr. Roger Bannister of the quarter mile oval at historic Oxford.

Thomas, Boston University sophomore who has jumped higher than any other human both outdoors and indoors, cleared the high jump bar at 7 feet, 1/4 inch Thursday.

So incredible has been the performance of this gangling youth that people walked away from the AAU-sanctioned Olympic development meet muttering: "Imagine that, only seven feet."

Five days earlier Thomas topped the world outdoor mark with a 7-1/4 effort at the Penn Relays, Feb. 20 and March 11 of this year Thomas did 7-2 1/2 indoors.

In the span of 15 months, this product of the missile age has soared over the bar at seven feet or higher 18 times.

On May 16, 1954, when Bannister fled across the finish line in 3:59.4, Thomas was being coaxed as a high school freshman to try the high jump though his athletic desires were for basketball and tennis.

Two years later Charles Dumas did to the high jump what Bannister had done to the mile — passed what once was thought to be the impenetrable 7 foot mark (7-1/2).

The majority of track and field records listed today have been set since Bannister's run but no individual can claim dominion of an event like Thomas.

Of 25 jumps made at 7 feet or higher, Thomas has 18. Dumas has four with the others divided among three Soviets led by Yuri Stepanov (7-1).

Reds Eke 4-3 Win Over Giants

Pirates, Dodgers, Phils Are Victors

By The Associated Press
Cincinnati's Reds finally have themselves a winning streak, now that reliever Bill Henry is pitching as effectively for them as he did against 'em.

The Reds, who hadn't been able to win two in a row through their first 15 games, beat the San Francisco Giants 4-3 Thursday for their fourth straight victory.

The lean lefty, who beat the Reds seven times out of eight before they got him from the Chicago Cubs last winter fanned two of four batters in a 1-1-3-inning mop-up Thursday as the Reds swept a two-game series at San Francisco and dropped the second place Giants two games behind Pittsburgh. The Pirates, who open a three-game series at San Francisco tonight, won 9-7 at Chicago, ruining Lou Boudreau's debut as Cub manager. Los Angeles beat Milwaukee 4-3 in 10 innings but the St. Louis Cardinals blew a chance to take third place from the Braves by losing 3-1 to Philadelphia.

In the American League, where only two games were scheduled, the Chicago White Sox moved into a virtual first place tie with the New York Yankees by beating Washington 5-3. Cleveland replaced Baltimore in third place by whipping the Orioles 11-6.

The Reds were shut out on one hit for five innings before southpaw Johnny Antonelli tried in his first start of the season, then came from behind and beat reliever Stu Miller with two runs in the eighth.

Henry struck out pinch-hitter Jimmy Davenport with the tying run on second in the Giants' eighth, saving the decision for Bob Purkey (1-1), who earlier gave up a two-run triple by Mays and a homer by Orlando Cepeda.

Bill Virdon's two-out pinch triple gave the Pirates two runs in the ninth against reliever Glen Hobbie (2-3) after they had tied it 7-all with five runs in the seventh. Bob Clemente, who drove in three runs, hit a two-run homer in the rally. Fred Green (2-0) won it in relief for the Pirates.

The Dodgers ended their slump at four on rookie Bob Aspromonte's fourth consecutive hit — a two-out, two-strike single with the bases loaded. Larry Sherry (2-3), never a loser against the Braves, beat them for the third time with four frames of two-hit shutout relief after starter Johnny Podres had given up homers by Mel Roach and Hank Aaron. Don McMahon (1-2) lost it in relief of Lew Burdette.

Rookies Pancho Herrera and Ken Walters hit fourth-inning homers for all three runs as the Phillies beat Vinegar Bend Mizell (1-2) for the first time in six decisions. Jim Owens (2-2), put away his second nineinning job with a five-hitter. The Cards scored in the fifth on a walk, Leon Wagner's single and a doubleplay.

PAINSVILLE TRACK OPENS
AKRON, Ohio (AP) — The Painesville Raceway meeting opens tonight at Northfield Park to launch a 132-night program of racing at the track.

The 44-night Painesville meeting was moved to Northfield because facilities are better at the track in northern Summit County.

The Grandview Raceway program also will be held at Northfield, along with the regular Northfield program.

Grandview, which lost its grandstand in a 1958 fire, held its program last year at Northfield.

Bally Ache 2nd Derby Choice

Has Won 5 of 7 Races This Year

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The secret of how Bally Ache overcame runner-upitis and became one of the two strong favorites for Saturday's $125,000 added Kentucky Derby was revealed today as 14 three-year-old horses wound up their training with light workouts at Churchill Downs.

The smooth striding bay with bull dog-like tendencies for holding on in face of defeat has been getting special exercises and training routines to make him taller, heavier and longer.

Although winner of more than $300,000 in 1959 and out of the money only once in 16 starts, the son of Ballydam lost five $100,000 plus races by a total distance of less than 1 1/2 lengths. To say the least that was frustrating to Leonard Fruchman of Toledo, Ohio, who paid a mere $2,500 for the colt, and trainer Jimmy Pitt.

"If his neck and nose had been a little longer he would have taken at least three of those rich races," said Pitt as he watched Bally Ache graze outside Barn 42.

"But this year it has been a different story. He's grown from around 13 1/2 hands to about 16 1/2. He's much heavier in the right places. And look at that neck. He can really stretch it."

This year Bally Ache has been out seven times for a record of five victories, two seconds and earnings of $211,800. Not once has he bowed in a rich stake as he chalked up victories in the Flamingo at Hialeah Park and the Florida derby at Gulfstream Park.

The two Florida triumphs plus a romp over Venetian Way in last Saturday's stepping stone at Churchill has established Bally Ache as the second choice at 5-2 to C. V. Whitney's Tompion, 7-5 favorite. And Bally Ache could well go postward as the co-favorite of the crowd of 100,000.

Tompion, although an easy winner of the Santa Anita derby and even more impressive in the Blue Grass stakes at Keeneland eight days ago, can't match the won-lost and money-earned record of his rival.

Bally Ache and Tompion clashed three times at the close of the 1959 season. In the three races — the Cowdin, Champagne and Garden State stakes — they both bowed to Warfare. But in horse-against-horse rivalry Bally Ache holds a 2-1 edge over Whitney's son of Tom Fool.

Jackson Milton downed Greenford 15-0 Thursday night at Boardman, getting all their runs on seven hits.

West Has Been Doing It for Weeks

Nikita Dashes Summit Hopes

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP)—Premier Nikita Khrushchev has poured a dose of cold water on any optimism that the summit meeting in Paris 10 days from now may accomplish something.

But that's what the Western leaders have been doing for weeks anyway. There have been two extraordinary features about the Western preparations for the summit, preparations which began last September:

1. They haven't produced a new idea to hit the Soviets with.

2. They are rooted in a let's stand still and see what happens attitude.

Never Given Up Demands
Khrushchev has never given up on the demands he started making in November 1958: That the West get its troops out of West Berlin; and that it sign separate peace treaties with West and Communist East Germany.

The West refuses to do either. And recently Undersecretary of State Douglas Dillon made a speech saying the West wouldn't budge. It wasn't new. The Western leaders had already said that much.

But Dillon made it sound, for whatever his reason, very fiery. It wasn't really very fiery for down further, in the fine print, Dillon said the West would be glad to settle for just not rocking the boat awhile.

When you put these various Western positions and statements together it's easy to understand—particularly if you're Soviet—why Khrushchev blasted the West in a speech Thursday.

It's almost as if he were saying: "What do you think I am, a patsy?"

Lays Groundwork For Blame
He did something else, too. He laid the groundwork for blaming the West, in the eyes of the rest of the world, if the summit is a failure.

Even Khrushchev's brutal crack about Vice President Richard M. Nixon was understandable, from the Soviet viewpoint.

It's still puzzling why President Eisenhower thought it necessary to announce that if the summit meeting lasts more than a week, and he has to come home, he'll let Nixon sit in at the summit, for him.

Nixon seems to be a special kind of poison to Khrushchev. And last month before some editors here Nixon explained, in a way which couldn't endear him to Khrushchev, how he'd handle things at the summit.

Concerned By Hard Facts
Nixon said he thinks Khrushchev would like to see progress at the summit "because, realist that he is, he is concerned by some hard facts of international life."

And at another point the vice president said, "We can rightly approach the summit with full confidence that the spokesmen of the free world, rather than Mr. Khrushchev, represent the tide of history."

So Khrushchev hit back at Nixon. He said letting him sit in at the summit would be like sending a "goat to take care of the cabbage."

The way Khrushchev emphasized the shooting down of an American plane over Soviet territory indicated two things which:

NIGHTMARES—Lucille Ball is shown in Santa Monica, Calif., court where she obtained a divorce from Desi Arnaz. She said the last three years of their marriage had been a "nightmare."

put together, probably explains his reasons for making the speech in the first place:

Hasn't Turned to Jelly

1. He wants the West to know his fairly mild and pleasant speeches of the past few months don't indicate he's turned to jelly.

2. If the West is talking tough about the summit—in the belief such an attitude will soften him up and induce him to make concessions—it's wrong.

Trying to link his speech in with the various Communist party shifts announced at the same time seems far-fetched. From here the shifts indicated no profound shakeup but rather adjustments for the sake of efficiency.

LISBON — Columbiana County's two common pleas courts gained ground in April in the disposition of court cases, according to a report by Clerk of Courts Carl L. Stacey to the administration as assistant to the Ohio Supreme Court.

A total of 707 cases were pending as of April 1, and 67 more cases were filed during the month, making a total of 774. The two courts disposed of 92 cases, leaving 682 pending as of May 1.

RUSSIAN YOUTHS REVEAL 49-DAY ORDEAL IN PACIFIC

Four young Russian soldiers recently returned to Russia, bringing with them the nightmarish memories of a 49-day battle against the Pacific in a small landing craft. Driven out to sea by a fierce storm during routine amphibious maneuvers, the youths battled grimly for their lives before they were picked up by a United States aircraft carrier.

In an exclusive Family Weekly interview, the four survivors re-create the tense moments of their 49 days adrift. For a stirring account of courage and dogged determination, don't miss the article, "They Fought the Pacific and Won." You'll find it in Family Weekly distributed with your Saturday edition of THE SALEM NEWS.

In the same issue of Family Weekly, Kathryn Forbes, of "I Remember Mama" fame, pays special tribute to Mother's Day in her charming article, "My Finest Mother's Day Gift."

Another special feature is a rocket expert's open letter to the American Rocket Society, in which he asks, "Can We Make Rocketry Safe for Teen-Agers?"

Regular Family Weekly features include a treasured selection of "heirloom" cake recipes, games and riddles for the children in the Junior Treasure Chest, and the jokes and cartoons of Quips and Quotes.
